Outlaws Threaten to Kill Men Captives if Troops Are Not Called Back

By the Associated Press.

Washington, May 7.—A situation apparently regarded as seriously menacing good relations between the United States and the Peking government in China was described today by American Minister Schurman in the first official report to reach the State Department regarding the capture of American citizens by Chinese bandits.

It is expected that the American Minister will be instructed to pursue the most vigorous course to secure release of the prisoners unharmed.

At present the government is leaving the situation to Minister Schurman's own judgement. It is understood Continued on Page 2, Col. 1

BOGUS ORBERS START PANIC IN STOCK MARKET

FLOOD OF BAD CHECKS CLOUTERS IN

Boston, New York and Philadelphia Houses Caught by Gigantic Fraud

By International News Service.
New York, May 7.—An amazing and almost unprecedented attempt to perpetrate a gigantic fraud on Wall Street threw the market into a panic today, shot prices up and down in titanic fashion and resulted in immediate action on the part of the American Bankers' Association to run down the men behind the scheme.

More than a score of checks were received by New York brokerage houses for sums running high into the thousands. Boston and Philadelphia brokers received similar bogus orders.

It was a brand new fraud and by its extreme daring virtually took bankers in the street off their feet. It was in the form of an advance of apurious checks, all arriving at the same time, and carrying the order to "buy."

The checks came from many cities in the East. At the same time, according to information here, checks were sent to brokers in the Philadelphia Stock Exchange.

Brokers, on receiving the checks, accepted them as bona fide. Immediately a buying movement was under way. Prices shot up.

Suddenly, the widest settlement took place. Traders learned the checks were apurious. Many orders to counteract the buying orders were immediately made. The market was in a turmoil.

Americans Aboard Train Held Up By Chinese

Louder, May 7.—A Boston dispatch from Shanghai says that the following Americans were on the train held up by Chinese bandits near the Canton border:

- A. L. Zimmerman.
- V. Haimovitch.
- L. Friedman.
- J. A. Henley.
- J. Salmon.
- Mr. and Mrs. E. Finger and two children.
- J. R. Fowell.
- Major Allen with Mrs. Allen and child.
- Miss Lucy Aldrich.
- Miss Minnie MacFadden of Providence.
- Miss Schenberg.
- F. Elias.
- E. Gelsinger.
- Robert T. Scripps.
- Lloyd Lehrman.

and quickly reacted to it. The brokers sold the shares as soon as they learned that they had been issued.

Other Boston houses received orders to buy similar lots of C. C. Cooper and American Woollen—each instructions being accompanied by fraudulent checks—but they made an investigation and were not taken in.

The protective department of the American Bankers' Association immediately sent fifteen investigators to track tracing down the worthless paper.

KILLED BY BOYHOOD CHUM

Swampscott Men Accidentally Shot by Friend Examining Weapons

Ernest F. Bennett of No. 128 Redington street, Swampscott, is dead at his home today, the victim of a friend's carelessness.

He was accidentally shot and almost instantly killed by William Brewster, a boyhood chum, in the Brewster home at Kensington, N. H.

Bennett, who was fifty-eight years old, and well known in shoe and leather circles of New England, was employed in a Lynn shoe factory as a foreman.

Saturday, with his family, he went to his boyhood home at Kensington, to spend the weekend. Shortly before the hour at which he had planned to start the return to Swampscott, he walked over to the Brewster home, to exchange farewell greetings.

Brewster was entertaining a number of other friends, and the talk reverted to the host's hobby, the collection of antique firearms. Pleased by the interest manifested by his friends, Brewster got out more than a dozen ancient weapons, and explained their peculiarities. As he was handling one of the pistols, there was an explosion, and the man was dead, shot through the stomach. The body was shipped to Swampscott today. The train in which he was traveling was stopped at the Central Vermont railway tracks.

DECLARES WET SOLONS VOTE DRY

Representative Adlow Defends His Bill at the State House Hearing

"I know men in the Legislature who drink liquor and vote dry."

State Representative Eliah Adlow made these assertions today at a hearing before Governor Coe.

The hearing was on two bills. One was the Adlow bill for a referendum one year from next November to ask the people whether they want prohibition retained, modified or repealed.

Representative Adlow urged the Governor to sign the bill. The other bill is the State Volstead Act, to enforce liquor laws in Massachusetts.

The Rev. George A. Gordon, D. D., opposed the Adlow bill. The hearing room was crowded with opponents and proponents of both measures.

Ford's Income Laid in Dollars Would Reach 1,065 Miles

Washington, May 7.—Henry Ford's annual income, if piled in dollars in the shape of an obelisk, would build a silver shaft the size of the Washington Monument, an official of the Treasury Department estimated.

In a single string, edge to edge, his income dollars would extend 1,065 miles, or nearly half as far as Kelly and Macready flew across the country in their army monoplane. They would reach from New Orleans to the Ford plant at Detroit, and twice as far as from New York to the home of his famous produce.

The charges grew out of failure of Mrs. Jordan, to respond to summonses when wanted as "a material witness" against William P. Jardine, Dorothy's temporary guardian. The woman, according to Attorney Sheehan, evaded service.

MISS ALDRICH, U. S. HEIRESS, FREED BY CHINESE BANKETS

he has unofficially acted already.

By the Associated Press.

Shanghai, May 7.—One American was killed by the bandits who held up the Shanghai-Peking express train near the Shantung border and carried off the 150 passengers, according to a message from Linching today.

All the women captives, including Miss Aldrich, sister-in-law of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and her two $35,000,000 estates, have been released. The men, still held, are said to be in grave danger.

TROOPS FIRE ON BANDITS.

The message said the bandits had notified the authorities that all the men among the foreign captives would be killed unless troops were withdrawn.

Miss McFadden and Miss Alva Correll, a private secretary, were released with Miss Aldrich, the report added.

Troops were pressing the bandits on both sides, firing, at last advice.

The kidnapping plot is believed to have originated in Shanghai when it became known that a large party was having to attend the ceremony in the completion of the Kiangsu dyke at Tsu Nan.

In making their capture the bandits removed the fish plates from the train, dealing the train just north of Shanghai.

A Shanghai-Nanking railway message said the train was attacked by a band of 1,000 men. The prisoners included more than 100 Chinese passengers.

Messages concerning the capture of Miss Aldrich, Edward Elton, Theodore Scipio, Knute Gensburger, J. O. Powell and Lloyd Lebar, all of whom were among the thirty-five foreigners who left here Saturday.

Three American army officers, Maj. Joe Finger, Major Allen, and another whose name is not known, are reported as among the captives. Mrs. Finger, wife of Major Finger, escaped.

Others reported captured were Robert Scripps, American newspaper publisher; Leon Friedman, Lee C. Sinton and G. D. Musso, a prominent Italian attorney.

An unidentified report said one British subject named Rothman was killed.

According to an unconfirmed report from a Japanese news agency,

Among the New York banks named as correspondents in the false reports were the Guaranty Trust Company, National City Bank, Chase National Bank, Irving Bank, Columbia Trust Company, Hanover National Bank National Bank of Commerce, National City Bank, American Exchange National Bank, and National Park Bank.

All the letters were written on the same head of watermarked paper and the checks accompanying them were of a uniform type.

The orders, all posted so as to reach New York simultaneously, began the opening of the stock exchange, came from Harrisburg, York, Allentown, Bethlehem and Reading Pa., Amsterdam, Soberscote and Tulsa, N. Y., and North Adams and Portland, Mass.

Most of the names mentioned as clients in the letters, for whom stocks were to be bought, were those of companies in the baking, grocery and produce business.

It was believed in Wall street that more than a half million in the bogus paper had been put in circulation.

At least two Philadelphia stock brokers' firms received forged checks for bogus stock market orders. The checks, it was said, came from Allentown, Allentown, Harrisburg and Johnstown in Pennsylvania.

History of MATOAKA Mother of Tobacco

PART I

MATOAKA, the Princess! We of today know her as Pocahontas, the pet name given by her father, King Powhatan, whose favorite daughter she was. But Pocahontas is not a name, for it means "Little Tomorrow." So she was known popularly to the English settlers of Virginia, but her people, whose princess she was, called her by her real name—Matoaka. These facts have been brought to light in connection with the search by the Historical Society of Virginia for the body of Pocahontas.

Matoaka, daughter of the king under whom thirty-three powerful chieftains ruled the vast territory from the Delaware to the Carolina's, was a girl of sixteen when she was captured by the English and taken to Jamestown. It was here that she met John Rolfe, the English settler who was to become her husband. Rolfe, a tobacco planter, was the first to introduce tobacco into America. He was a man of great energy and vision, and he was the first to see the possibilities of tobacco as a cash crop. He was the first to plant tobacco in America, and he was the first to export it to England. He was the first to make tobacco a part of the life of the American people.

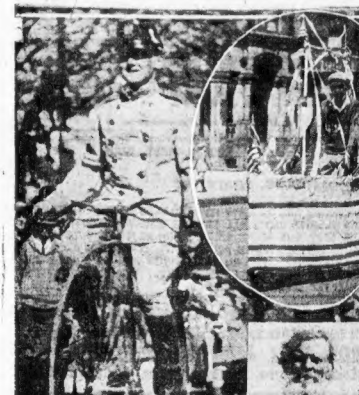

Matoaka was a girl of great beauty and grace. She was a girl of great spirit and courage. She was a girl of great faith and devotion. She was a girl of great love and loyalty. 3 YOUTHS HELD AS GUNMEN SUSPECTS
Three youthful gunmen were captured and the fourth member of their group escaped early today when Patrolman James A. Kelly of the East Dedham street station held them at bay with his revolver after they had stepped from an automobile on Washington street near Dover street.

The young man said they were James P. O'Rourke, 23 years old, of Epping Garden street, North End; Edward F. Connolly, 23, of Chestnut street, Roxbury; and William P. MacRae, 18, of Eighth street, South Boston.

The car carrying the youths and a driver drew up to the curbstone opposite the Grand Opera House. The three youths, one of them carrying a large bundle, stepped to the street. Patrolman Kelly, standing a short distance away, started for the trio and they were toward the machine.

The officer drew his gun and demanded they halt. The driver of the car speeded off without his companions, who surrendered.

The three prisoners were taken to the Dedham street station house and after an hour's grilling are confessed that they were the men that attempted to hold up Charles Dunbar, eighteen-year-old Harvard student, and nephew of Professor Charles Townsend Copeland of Harvard.

The bundle in possession of the men was addressed to Mrs. E. H. Newhall, No. 8 Rialto avenue, Cambridge, and contained three new house dresses recently purchased at a downtown department store.

JAIL FATHER OF 6, INTOXICATED IN AUTO
Alexander Connolly, of Boylston street, Newton Upper Falls, married, and father of six children, was sentenced to thirty days in the House of Correction today by Judge Chase in the Superior district court for driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor.

15,000 SEE BICYCLE RIDERS
Franklin Field Thronged for Boston American's Outing Events

By HARRY A. BENWELL.

Under ideal weather conditions the Boston American's annual bicycle run, the big outdoor event of each Spring, took place yesterday.

Hundreds of riders of all ages and both sexes participated in the ride from Copley Square to Franklin Field, where more than 15,000 persons were waiting.

To the music of St. Augustine's Cude Band eight contests were run of successfully and more than seventy prizes awarded by Park Commissioner James B. Riley.

CHILD WINS CHEIF
The most interesting event was the class for toy vehicles, an innovation this year, open to boys and girls eight years of age and under, riding tricycles, velocipedes and toy automobiles.

Five-year-old Leonard Luchner of No. 11 Huntington avenue, Dorchester, was the winner in this class, but the cheers of the spectators went to baby Irene Carter, who lives at No. 11 Lincoln street, Cambridge, and who is but two years old, trundled a tricycle about the track with an intensity of purpose that won everyone's affections.

OLD-TIMERS IN LINE
The old-timers' class with its high boys, bone crushers and other antique machines, as usual was exceedingly popular with the crowd. The prizes were apparently unable to restrain them, with the result that the running off of the events was considerably retarded.

The success of the day was somewhat marred by the crowd's surging onto the track at Franklin Field, where the contests were being held. The police were apparently unable to restrain them, with the result that the running off of the events was considerably retarded.

LYNN MAN INJURED BY ODD ACCIDENT
Michael Stiergie of No. 121 Central avenue, Lynn, was injured in a peculiar accident today. Stiergie jumped from a truck at the corner of the street where he was employed, landing on the end of a handle of a pitchfork. The prong flew into the air, impaling the man through the shoulder. Police employees removed the pitchfork and Stiergie was taken to the Lynn hospital.

SACRIFICED WEALTH FOR LOVE
Live in a $10-a-Week Flat and Are "Perfectly Happy."

Both Declare

Detroit, May 7.—A "tempest in a teapot," is the way Mrs. Florence Avery Burdgrand, 42 years, referred today to the future her marriage a week ago to Francis Burdgrand, 34, ex-gardener to her millionaire father, created in Detroit's most exclusive social circle. Her family came from Maine.

Mrs. Burdgrand, who according to her mother has sacrificed her inheritance of millions and social position by her marriage to the former gardener, was found in the kitchen of a $10 a week flat in the River House district, where her husband is employed as an iron worker.

A glimpse upon covering her smart brown sport suit, Mrs. Burdgrand was preparing a meal over a two-burner gas stove. "We are perfectly happy," she said, looking at the stove. "The publicity at first was ghastly. I raged and cried, but now I can see the humor of it."

Harvard, with slightly more difficulty with the English language, interjected: "Let them have their joke." He expressed himself as satisfied with his work, which included that of catching red hot rivets fusing from far below and forcing them into cold steel with a pneumatic hammer. His pay envelope is turned over to his wife.

Mrs. Burdgrand explained that their residence is temporary. Their ultimate ambition she said, is to own a little farm, somewhere in the West.

Promises Balm to Irish

Miss Broker to Give $50,000 to Ireland—if She Gets It

A call was sent across the Atlantic Ocean today for two husky young Irishmen to come to the aid of an Irish beauty in distress.

The beauty is Miss Dorothy Little, Broker of Limerick, Ireland, who has started a campaign to raise $100,000 against Charles A. Merrill, Boston newspaperman and Harvard graduate.

She complained that she doesn't want the money. "All I want," she said, "is vindication. If I win the money I will turn it over to Irish relief societies."

CALLS FOR BROTHERS
The call was sent to Miss Broker's two brothers.

"These brothers are each well over six feet in height and each weighs well over two hundred pounds. Perfect specimens of Irish manhood are they. And both are devoted to their beautiful sister who finds herself alone in Boston with a court fight on her hands."

"I am firmly convinced that an effort is being made to force me to leave Boston," said Miss Broker today. "I intend to stay here and fight my case out through the courts. I feel that the best thing I could do would be to send for my brothers. I thought that I shall get justice when they arrive. I know that I shall not be treated by friends of Charles Merrill after they arrive as I have been in the past few days."

WILL STAY AND FIGHT
"Charlie tried to get up to leave Boston. I refused. I shall stay here and fight my case. I know my brothers will not fail me in my time of need. I know they will hurry here and take a hand in protecting me. They can do it, too. When they arrive I intend to fight my fight the person who are fighting me will see before all of his friends."

SEEK TO CLEAR NAME
"I am bringing this suit against Charles because I want to clear my good name. He has treated me as a respectable woman to be treated. I shall not allow him to cast me aside after playing a wicked trick on me before all of his friends."

Miss Broker is the daughter of a prominent family in Ireland. Continued on Page 6, Col. 9

WITNESS RECLARES HAZED STUDENT WAS CHOKED TO DEATH

SO USED TO STIFLE CRIES

Forced Into Chicago Boy's Mouth as He Was Dragged to Death in River

Chicago, May 7.—A man who claims to have been an eye witness to the hazing of Leighton Mount has been found by the authorities.

The young Northwestern University student was overpowered and choked into being by five or six men and dragged away by them, according to the new witness.

The man who gave this information is John A. Strom, a fisherman, living on the lake shore near the university. He claims that members of his family also witnessed the overpowering and choking of the student, DRAGED TO LAKE.

"Four of them were holding the man down and the other student sent in his mouth to stop his cries," said Strom. "Finally he stopped struggling and they dragged him toward the lake."

Walter Dill Scott, president of Northwestern University, is to be one of the first witnesses in the grand jury investigation, scheduled to open tomorrow. Mr. Scott has been described as a reluctant witness in the coroner's investigation. It was said he shunned publicity.

It was fear of publicity that caused the investigation of the disappearance of Mount in 1921 to be dropped, according to facts brought out in the coroner's inquiry.

RING OF SECRECY.

The tragedy of the disappearance of Mount wasn't discussed openly in fraternity circles there was lots of talk, but it ended there. The coroner hasn't been able to break through the ring of secrecy, the Grand Jury will make an attempt.

Thomas J. Polon, assistant prosecutor in charge of the inquiry, held a long conference with State Attorney Edgar A. Jones. He was decided the Grand Jury should investigate every angle of hazing at Northwestern as well as the Mount case in particular.

Hub-Bub STORIES OF BOSTON TOWN

By Jo Swerling

J. J. HAS NEVER HAD HIS PICTURE TAKEN, BUT ARTIST HARMONY caught him in a characteristic mood, and here you have a harmonious likeness of Boston's Press Agent, just appointed by Mayor Curley to serve without pay. Heaven may be a nicer place than Boston, but J. J. has his doubts about it.

BOSTON'S PRESS AGENT

Mayor Curley has created a new job. It is not mentioned in the city budget, and the man appointed for the job works for the love of it—without pay.

The job is that of press agent for the city of Boston. The man appointed by the mayor for the job is J. J. Curley, the best known press agent in the country, the man who knows every city editor in the United States by his first name, the man who makes big ones out of little ones in the show business.

The mayor notified J. J. of his appointment by letter the other day. In conferring the honor upon him Mr. Curley stated that if he made good he would give J. J. the job of press agent for the campaign in which Curley runs for governor of this State. J. J. accepted the job and promptly sat down and wrote a letter to his Irish brother-in-law, Chris Wall of Toledo, as follows:

"Dear Chris: "Boston hereafter will have to get on the map without me. I have Toledo, but you Boston. Have just been appointed official press agent of the city, and I'm getting set to travel the nation about America's Greatest City, Boston."

All Just Towns Except Boston

This is the first time in his life that J. J. has accepted a job without pay. When he does a job for George M. Cohan, for Sam Harris, for Wagners and Kumpers, for Al Woods or for any of the other moguls of the theatre for whom he has worked, he charges heavy wages. "J. J. has traveled all over the world, calls waters by their first name in every city in America and lives in registers in every town from Broadway, New York, to Broadway, Los Angeles. But they're all just towns to him, except Boston. He's the Bostonian of the town.

His son, Jack Osterman, is a traveler like his father. Although the kid's just reached his twenty-first birthday, he's a headliner in vaudeville. Each month the youngster gets out a little booklet which he calls "Osterman's Reminder." The inside back page is reserved by the old man, who sends Jack copy each month. It's always about Boston. In this way the city is advertised extensively, as the "Reminder" goes to all parts of the country.

Long Acted Unofficially

Every time there's a musical celebration J. J. at his own expense, sends the city out in its matinee list of city editors. Every time Mayor Curley gives out a photo to the city, J. J. mails out photographs to all his friends. "For a long time he was the city's press agent in fact. Now he has the official appointment. He is having letterheads printed which read:

CITY OF BOSTON
Office of the Official Press Agent
J. J. is married to Katherine Osterman, the well-known actress next to Boston. Katherine is his baby. J. J. claims she is as near perfection as a woman can be. Had she been born in Boston instead of Toledo she would have been 100 per cent. perfect, he claims. On May 26 J. J. and Kathy will celebrate their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. The great day will be jubilee in Boston. J. J. and his wife are coming from New York especially for that purpose. And young Jack Osterman, who has been playing on the Pacific coast, was routed so that he would play in Boston that week and join his parents at the party.

"I'd like to invite the entire city of Boston to my party," said Jack. "If I could get a place big enough, I would. Because I love the town and its people. The only thing narrow about Boston are its streets, the only thing crooked are its alleys."

BANDITS ADMIT ROBBERIES IN BACK BAY

Robberies in Brookline and Back Bay apartments totalling upwards of $10,000 in lost, were confessed, according to the police, by one of the four men held in connection with the attempted theft of the payroll of the Wagon-Click Company, in the West End, from Mary Levenson, bookkeeper for the firm.

Joseph Lewis, alias Morris Vandy, nineteen years old, of the West End, and an employee of the Wagon-Click Company, was the first to be arrested in connection with the hold-up. He is said to have instigated the gang in robberies as follows:

BOY CRUSHED BY ELEVATOR IS DYING

Lawrence Weymouth, seventeen years old, of No. 16 Kneeland street, Malden, is dying at the Hotel this after the result of being crushed by a freight elevator today.

Young Weymouth, employed as a stock boy at the Alva Shoe Company plant at No. 614 Atlantic avenue, was operating the lift when it crashed into the well, the elevator crushing his body against the wall between the second and third floors.

His screams attracted David Charn, of the Chamberlain Rubber Company, in the same building. Chamberlain stopped the elevator and, with the assistance of three others, extricated young Weymouth just before the arrival of firemen who were summoned.

Housewives Glad to Know New Way of Getting Soft, Cool, Pliable Finish in Their Garments

New Remarkable Starch Discovery Now Offered to Every Housewife

EVERY refined woman wants her dainty garments starched so as to look sheer and beautiful—with that delightful, pliable finish that everyone admires so much.

Heretofore it has not been possible to get at home the same elegant finish you find in goods fresh from the store, or from the exclusive French laundries.

The Reason for the Natural Linen Finish

The secret of this lovely finish is now made clear to housewives. It is in the use of Linit—the new scientific starch discovery—made just the way the great fabric manufacturers use it.

Linit gives the same natural finish to all fabrics you find in garments fresh from the store.

How the Life of Your Dainty Garments Is Lengthened

Linit is made by a new process that keeps the starch THIN and free-running for a long time after it cools. This prevents the starch from caking, smearing or sticking to the iron.

It enables Linit to penetrate to the very center of every thread of the fabric. This preserves the material and resists wear.

Linit makes cotton look and feel like linen; because every thread of your garment is "starch-treated." You will be delighted with the soft, cool, pliable linen finish that Linit gives your cotton goods.

TRY THIS:—To make even ordinary cotton sheets and pillow cases look and feel like pure linen, with a soft, cool and pliable finish, use ½ cup Linit to 14 cupsful of water.

Not only does Linit give cotton a linen finish, but you will notice an entire absence of the disagreeable lint usually associated with cotton goods.

If you cannot obtain LINIT at your grocer communicate with CORN PRODUCTS SALES CO., W. A. Cahoon, Mgr., 47 Farnsworth St., Boston, Mass. Visit our permanent demonstration at Modern Methods Kitchen, Suite 214, 234 Boylston Street, Boston, Mass.

MARION DAVIES SAYS IT WITH BALLOONS

MARION DAVIES

Marion Davies arranged a novel welcome for Robert C. Vignola, who directed her in the Comopolitan picture "When Knighthood Was in Flower," when the director recently returned from a five-month trip around the world gathering material for future productions. With a party of about thirty newspaper and magazine writers Miss Davies went down the bay on the Yacht Quaila to meet the Aquilina, upon which Vignola was returning. Just as the yacht anchored alongside the huge ocean liner, Miss Davies let loose about 100 balloons of all colors of the rainbow. The balloons didn't quite turn the world, "Welcome, Vignola," but they made such a pretty spectacle that the passengers aboard the Aquilina cheered.

CARDS AND WOMAN LEAD TO STABBING

Cards and a woman, both concerned assets, started the trouble which ended in a slashing attack on the crowded corner at Columbus and Massachusetts avenues. Thomas Crump, twenty-nine years old, No. 33 Haystack street, South End, was led up on an assault charge. William McElroy, colored, twenty-five, of No. 8 Wellington street, is at the City Hospital with a slashed throat. The police were told he furnished a gun and threatened to shoot.

TO DRAG HARBOR FOR MISSING MAN

Boston police were planning to drag the harbor today for the body of Cyrus L. Dorr whose suitcase and traveling bag were found in an alley in the rear of No. 248 Atlantic avenue. Dorr left the Maritime House in the West End two weeks ago for Hopedale.

GRILL SUSPECT IN KILLING OF BOY

GETS RICHES, BUT STAYS IN SERVICE

Even a Million Would Not Make Sergeant Johnson Quit U. S. Marines

Providence, May 7.—Sergeant Eric O. Johnson stands today as the greatest living advertisement for the advantages of being a marine. Eric has been in the service for eight years, and not even a checkable fortune is able to wean him away from the life of a marine. He was informed this week that he and his brother Carl, of Brockton, had become heirs to the estate of their father, Eric J. Johnson, who died some time ago.

The estate is still in probate and its exact size is not known, but it is believed to be valued in excess of $10,000, which means that the young marine inherits at least $15,000.

In spite of the fact that he recently married Miss Edie Roun of Hills Grove, R. I., Johnson said today that he would continue in the service.

"It wouldn't matter to me if I inherited a million dollars," he said. "This is the life."

At present Sergeant Johnson is head of the local recruiting station of the marines. He was born and educated in Brockton.

DARING DIVER FOILS SUICIDE IN HARBOR

Dennis J. Sullivan, twenty-two years old, of No. 8 West Third street, South Boston, dove from Broadway Bridge, South Boston, into Fort Point "channel" and rescued James Driscoll, forty years old, of No. 1025 Washington street, from drowning.

Driscoll, the police say, had jumped from the bridge into the water in an attempt to commit suicide.

Sullivan was passing the scene at the time he saw Driscoll's head above water.

Dead in Doorway

Milton Corlies, twenty-five years old, of No. 3 Leederville street, Dorchester, was found dead in the doorway of his home by his mother, Mrs. Marie Corlies.

REWARD IN DRUGGING OF FAMILY

Husband is Seeking Clue in Case Where 33 Viole Overcomes

Springfield, May 7.—How a woman and her seven children were drugged with ether or chloroform and their home ransacked and robbed of $300 in cash and clothing was revealed today when Samuel Stevens, the husband, offered a reward of $100 for the capture of those responsible.

The Stevens family occupy the first floor of a ten-family house at No. 33 Osgood street. On Tuesday night the mother and children retired at their usual hour. Mr. Stevens was absent from the city in business. It was not until 10 o'clock the next morning that Mrs. Stevens awoke. The strong odor of a drug pervaded the air.

The children were still in a stupor. Investigation revealed that every room in the house was in disorder. The safe had been opened and $60 in cash taken. Valuable bonds were not touched. Women's dresses, silk shirts and four suits of women's clothing were among the stolen property. Stevens was seized this morning at the front door, which a pane of glass had been broken.

ROW AT TECH OVER SENIOR CLASS DRIVE

A row is brewing at Tech today as the result of a clash between Robert Farns Shaw, president of the senior class, and the editors of "The Tech," the school paper.

The senior class is starting a life insurance drive by means of which it hopes eventually to raise an endowment fund of about $100,000 for the Institute.

It is charged by "The Tech" that Shaw demanded a half page "space" with a five column head boost in the seniors' proposed life insurance drive and threatening an investigation of the paper if his request was not complied with.

MALDEN MAN FOUND DEAD IN NORTH END

Thomas Fenton, forty-one years old, of No. 18 Coburn street, Malden, was found dead in front of No. 11 Richmond street today. The medical examiner, after viewing the body, expressed the opinion that the man died of natural causes.

SLAIN AND BURIED IN GRAVEL AT TAUNTON

VICTIM, PIT AND SHROUD

The body of Arthur Serva, believed thirteen years old, Taunton boy victim in brutal murder, was encased in the starch bag (shown above), which may be the link which will trap his slayer.

FINDING OF BAG LEADS TO ARREST

Second Boy Identifies Taunton Prisoner as the Man Who Attacked Him

Taunton, May 7.—Frederick Baker, a suspect in the murder of Arthur Serva, was, before Judge F. E. Austin today, charged with assault upon fourteen-year-old Rolie Sousa. He pleaded not guilty.

After another grilling by District Attorney Stanley T. Hall he was taken to the New Bedford Jail.

District Attorney Hall will await further investigations by the police of the murder of Serva, whose mangled body was found in a starch bag, in a gravel pit, before deciding whether he will prosecute Baker on the charge of murder. Hall pressed Baker for an hour today on the subject of the murder.

WARNED BY BROTHER

As Baker was being taken from the court to the cells here today his brother, Bradford H. Baker, warned by his side. As he turned to leave Bradford said to his brother: "Keep your mouth shut. Don't tell this cops a thing." The police pushed Bradford aside and locked up their prisoner.

Five starch bags, similar to the one in which Serva's body was wrapped, which were found in Baker's room at his brother's house, will play an important part in the murder investigation. The brand of starch that is packed in these bags is handled by only one firm in Taunton, and the police are trying to learn how Baker obtained them and how many he had originally.

ACTUARY ON BODY

Dr. Frederick Alwood today held an autopsy on the body of the Serva boy at Father's Mortuary. The autopsy was held by order of District Attorney Hall to determine the exact manner in which the boy met his death.

District Attorney Hall is inclined to believe that the wounds could only have resulted from an attack with an edged tool, such as an ax. The throat was ruptured and the jugular vein severed. There were other deep gashes on the abdomen, hips and legs.

Rolie Sousa again today identified Baker as the man who attacked him, preceded with a blow on the head and otherwise assaulted him.

60,000 WILL SEE WILLARD AND JOHNSON IN GREAT BATTLE

KANSAS DETERMINED TO STAGE COME-BACK

Heavyweights have the stage. Even the affairs of state must wait while an eager public listens in on the latest radio flashes from the camp of the rival warriors who battle at the great Mills Fund Show at the Yankee Stadium in New York on Saturday afternoon.

It was once written that the pen is mightier than the sword. Today the truth of a right hand smashes against a rugged jaw in more powerful than either, according to millions of red-blooded, clear-eyed Americans, who have their thoughts centered on the brilliant array of fighting men who will struggle for supremacy at New York's wonderful charity affair.

Jess Willard, former world's heavyweight champion, against Floyd Johnson, the former champion, with Jack McAuliffe, 2d, of Detroit, in the other event.

Fred Fleming, once the "yellow cow" of the ring and now the hero of the cheering multitude, opposes Jack Remick, Canadian life holder.

Only Jack Dempsey and Harry Wills.

For the champion and the challenger, the card and you would have every heavyweight of prominence performing at the same time.

More than 60,000 persons will witness these bouts, which may well prove to be the greatest of the year.

This money will go to the New York Mills Fund, of which Mrs. William Randolph Hearst is chairman.

Willard and Johnson will each be paid $10,000 for their fight. The other bouts will receive nothing.

SWIMMING CAMP AIGNS BIG HIT FOR THE BOYS

"Training Boys to Be Boston's Greatest Asset" is the high ideal of the Boys' Club of Boston, and in cooperating with the Boston Americans in fostering the "Learn to Swim" campaign, the club is merely working out one of its many attempts to increase the efficiency of our future citizens.

There are hundreds of boys in Greater Boston who cannot swim. You may not know this campaign, for the Boys' Club of Boston has the building, the equipment and has its staff of instructors fully capable of caring for each and every boy.

Situated on Green street, Charlestown, across Thompson Square, the club house stands as one of the show places of the section.

With its big swimming pool, a spacious gymnasium, swimming pool, game room, library, pool room, bowling alley, vocational training classes, etc.

George Brewster, a lover of boys, is president. Louis A. Collinge, Louis A. Frothingham and Rudolph Wald are the vice-presidents. Charles C. Hancock, treasurer, and Frank Sullivan, secretary.

Not a $5.00 brand cheapened to Dollar appeal, but the original $1.00 razor in a Five Dollar Edition.

For twenty years GEM has said that no razor could be worth $5.00 as long as the Gem is $1.00. Competition now grudgingly admits it. When they met our $1.00 price we met their $5.00 standard—just to keep up the value difference. Take this Gem De Luxe Supreme for instance. You will admit it's certainly $5.00 standard in every respect. As a matter of fact it surpasses the picture. The price is just $1.00 for the handsome Ivory-like case complete with razor outfit. Heavy nickel plate is sanitary and wears forever; gold film plate only wears off. A supply of Gem Double Life Blades completes the outfit.

Fate of Sugar Gougiers a Warning to Profiteers

Copyright, 1921, Star Columnist

A short, but effective, newspaper campaign reduced the price of sugar 50 points in a day on the New York Sugar Exchange last week and the price stayed down.

Since April 24 the Hearst newspapers have succeeded in mobilizing the sentiment of the country against the profiteers who, since February 9 have boosted the price of the housewives' sugar from seven cents to eleven and twelve cents per pound. In the ten days, since April 24, the Hearst newspapers have brought about the organization of the people of the country in a buyers' strike, which, at first taken lightly by the sugar speculators, has at last recognized as a reality, brought about the terror-stricken selling which characterized Thursday's market. Before the day was over Cuban raw sugar was being offered to the refiners at 5½ cents, though they had been forced to buy at 8½ cents seven days earlier.

The most independent of the refiners, the Federal Sugar Refining Company, promptly passed this saving on to the public, quoting a price of 8½ cents per pound, compared with 10 cents the day before. Chain and department stores in New York have already begun selling for 10 cents and less. Deep further cuts will be made in sugar all along the line and the American housewives, who are sensibly refraining from buying now, will soon be purchasing their sugar at a more reasonable price.

It is fortunate that the people thus set out to help themselves. In this case there was no other help. The Department of Justice on April 19 began suit against the New York Sugar Exchange. Instead of attacking the real malefactors, the big American financial interests which cornered the Cuban sugar crop and then set out to rob us, the government asked the abolition of the Sugar Exchange on the ground that its transactions consisted mainly of trading in "futures."

Whatever may be the merits of the highly technical grounds on which the government bases its complaint, the sugar gentlemen were not worried by the suit. They figured that a long time would elapse before the government could overcome the various appeals and delays which the well-paid lawyers of the speculators would put in the government's way. In the meantime the speculators would continue to rob us.

The price they were playing for is rich. Every American consumes 100 pounds of sugar annually. An increase of one cent per pound means $1 a year extra taken from every man, woman and child in the United States, a total of $100,000,000 from all of us.

A four-cent price boost, which the speculators forced, would, if maintained, put $400,000,000 of our money into the pockets of the profiteers.

The people say NO and with no uncertain voice. In answer to the appeal of the New York American fourteen thousand immediately placed their support to the sugar strike movement. Ten United States Senators likewise volunteered to lead the boycott movement. Three Governors, two United States Senators and Mayor Hylan of New York wired the President and asked him to call or endorse a nation-wide sugar strike. It was admittedly the telegrams of the Governors, the Senators and Mayor Hylan that caused the President on April 30 to commend the housewives' boycott.

In the meantime Mayor Hylan had issued a proclamation calling on the citizens of New York to reduce their sugar consumption to a minimum until the price came down within reason. His example was followed by the Mayors of Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia, Buffalo, Hartford, New Haven, Syracuse, Detroit, Cleveland, St. Paul and other cities.

Even State federations of women's clubs have declared in favor of the boycott. Housewives' leagues all over the country have mobilized. In New York the women's sugar committee held a monster parade at City Hall, addressed by city officials. School children are taking the sugar pledge. Women are picketing the principal street corners of New York, carrying petition lists which passersby sign, pledging themselves to reduce their use of sugar. Clergymen preached the sugar strike from pulpits Sunday.

The example of the New York organization is being followed all through the country. The movement is spreading abroad. In England the National Housewives' Union is striking to cut the high price of sugar and tea, while the Fascists in Italy have made the sugar boycott their own.

It will be long before the badly burned American speculators in sugar forget the lesson which the outraged people are now teaching them, and the whole class of foodstuffs robbers are watching what is happening to the sugar men.

What Causes Radicalism?

That's Your Question

Copyright, 1921, Star Columnist

Mr. Ellis, once Assistant Attorney-General of the United States, asks the South, especially the Cotton Seed Association, "to lead the fight against radicals."

A better plan would be to ask all Americans to do away with conditions that make it possible for extreme radicals to build up an army of recruits.

Every man is a radical, and an extreme radical, who is treated with RADICAL INJUSTICE.

Cotton growers to whom Mr. Ellis appeals did not hesitate to burn the barns and warehouses of other cotton growers, when the latter refused to hold their cotton for higher prices.

That is radical enough. No redder red radical could do much more than set fire to his neighbor's house by way of expressing disapproval.

To fight radicalism, do away with its causes. To make the courts and the government respected, make the courts and the government entirely respectable.

NEW WOMAN PAINTED BY ZIEGFELD

CHICAGO, May 6.—The American woman of tomorrow will be beautiful. Take the word of Florenz Ziegfeld, Jr. of New York, for this prediction. And Ziegfeld ought to know. While this judge of feminine beauty was visiting here recently he was asked upon what grounds he made this statement. "To be replied: 'The composite of perfect womanly beauty will have an American figure, mouth and teeth and Italian eyes and nose and Irish complexion. Qualities of other nature need not be needed.'"

Give Them a Chance

Editor Boston American:

To the 100 per cent. American who wrote "Let Europe take care of her own people, because we cannot satisfy shoulder the responsibility of taking care of her people and do justice to our population of America." I would like to say: If he will look up the record of his country he will be able to find that somewhere his grandfathers set foot upon American soil with all intentions of making an honest living. And for that very reason we have with us today so many 100 per cent. Americans. He also states that we should leave the unsuccessful land for the future Americans. To that I will say the Americans of the future will take place of the Americans of the present. As for the unemployed land, it was put under the control of the farmers and foresters our country in the course of time would double his wealth.

He also states that our unemployed land is filled by bootleggers and moonshiners who are mostly foreigners. To this I would like to say that there are as many Americans in such occupations as foreign people. JOE STONEQUIST.

Shut-In Twenty-Two Years

Editor Helping Hand:

I have been a shut-in for twenty-two years now. This August my sister is the only one of my folks living, and she is in very poor health, and with her family, it makes it pretty hard for her to do anything for me. I can only get out when she helps me. Now if some kind reader will send me a suit, size 38, and some shoes, size 11. I will be very grateful. I don't care if the cost is not the same as the pants, as I may in the future and any kind of clothing will help me. C. H. W.

Wants Twin Stroller

Editor Helping Hand:

I wonder if any of the kind people of the Helping Hand have a twin stroller or carriage of no use to them. I have twins, one of which is very delicate and not well. The doctor said that the baby needs the air. I am unable to buy a carriage as I have a large family, with no one able to work, as they are all of school age. MRS. H. S.

Needs Baby Clothes

Editor Helping Hand:

I am a young woman with three small children and an expecting another this summer. My husband has been sick in the hospital since November. I wonder if someone hasn't clothes for a newborn baby that they no longer need, as I haven't any left? Also if some woman has a maternity cap, size 36 or 38, lightweight, I should be very grateful, as I haven't a wrap of any kind. MRS. J. M.

At the State Free Employment Office in Boston in 1921 only 15,729 applications for help were recorded, 13,432 less than in 1920.

WHY WESTINGHOUSE REFUSED THE INVITATION

By Herbert Kaufman

THE late William T. Stead, master journalist and eternal question mark, attending the dedication of the Carnegie Institute, told the writer that one of his purposes in revisiting America was to heckle President Roosevelt for his non-support of the Beer cause.

An enterprise successfully consummated and some day to be revealed in all its lurid details.

He also wished to verify the astounding report that a pair of young mechanics in a place called Dayton had built a practical flying machine.

John Brisson Walker, first publisher of the Cosmopolitan Magazine and pioneer automobile manufacturer, gave a dinner to the Wrights about the same time.

Among other guests, he invited George Westinghouse, who didn't convince Commodore Vanderbilt that a running train could be stopped by pneumatic brakes.

Westinghouse wouldn't come. He explained that no responsible business man would risk being ridiculed for endorsing such a far-fetched notion as an airship.

Pre-Taft Imagination

Heavy Ford, not long before working as a stationary engineer in a Detroit electric light plant and James C. Cousens, formerly an obscure railroad clerk, had just started to manufacture motor cars.

Local bankers were afraid they couldn't sell enough of them to justify financial support.

Wall Street considered Mr. Morgan's steel merger so water-logged that the panic of 1907 found its common stock all over the market at $16 a share.

Which shows how much imagination the average American had on the eve of Taft's election.

They'll Hitch Their Wagons to Stars

Ford, whom Stead hadn't heard of, is the most signal industrial figure on earth; Cousens many times a multimillionaire and a United States Senator.

Steel common, which Andrew Carnegie considered valueless, is backed by tangible assets 150 per cent. greater than the farthest estimates of the underwriters' prospectus—and the New York Central's Clevelander, Chicago miracle, the eighteen-hour Twentieth Century, is relegated to slow-poke dom by a non-stop flight between Long Island and San Diego. Never sell the future short.

If you know what he's talking about, Stead, confirmed spiritualist, is digging his valorous fingers into the Westinghouse ectoplasm, where they listen to Westinghouse radio concerts and observe Westinghouse experimenters laboring over wireless devices to broadcast power so that machines can pick energy from the ether as they speed along.

French engineers claim to have turned the trick. John Hays Hammond has a somewhat similar scheme.

Either disdain the limitations of time and space. The invisible, invisible, forced, planets are mightier servants than Aladdin's lamp commanded.

Your CHILDREN will circumnavigate the entire globe in personally driven star coaches.

Man Has Sprouted Permanent Wings

The Kelly-Maccready record is a seven-day antinomism. By next Spring we'll wonder why folk were so excited over a stunt bound to be discounted a dozen times by swifter aviators.

Man has sprouted permanent wings. His future lies in the empyrean. All traffic and transportation will soon move upstairs.

Man and express matter are already traveling the bird road. Perishable freight will come overhead.

Suburb developers are advised to purchase mountain peaks and canyons as residence sites for folk whose businesses are located a thousand miles away.

A ridiculous picture, not nearly so unbelievable as your grandfather found under-ivory tumbler or phonograph.

Tap Line and Air Line Disagree

Do you measure with watch line or a yardstick. Forget the past and remember the clock. The tape line doesn't find Peru, Indiana, and Peru, South America, an inch nearer to each other, but air lines find them back-fence neighbors.

The older we grow the faster we go. Tomorrow will do ten times the work of yesterday, because its facilities allow ten times the ground in a given period.

Vast as recent losses of mass and materials may seem to budgets and balance sheets, the expedition with which civilization is destined to operate promises so to reduce costs and wastes that 1920 won't notice a hole in any nation's pocket.

Morality Is a Laboratory Product

Progress is an expression of man's persistent intent to be just, decent and constructive. Codes and morals reflect common impulses. Majorities prefer to be right.

Experience is gained and tested through time's sieve and tests their quality. Morality is a laboratory product. Generation after generation has experimented with human nature, studied its weaknesses and capacities until races have learned what is best and wisest.

Intelligence slowly tames impulses. Reason gradually tightens its grip on rage and passion. The mind changes to a supreme court in which we judge what is expedient and self-protective, and the average man is inclined to be orderly. It is the exceptional being for whom policemen in brass buttons and cab bindings are necessary.

"Immodest Words Admit of No Defense"

The fathers of the republic knew this. Every article in the Constitution signifies their purpose to promote individualism, properly reduced to justifiable order, Pilgrim, Cavalier, Huguenot and Quaker maintained common cause against bigotry and intolerance.

Our most sacred trust is the preservation of that spirit. The New York State Legislature, inspired by their example, properly refused to put Hays under censorship. Which isn't at all the same thing as endorsing their reckless boasts.

"Immodest words admit of no defense—for want of decency is want of words."
